SDR Venue Category Test: Taxonomy, Targets, and Sample Emails

Purpose

This document tests the AI SDR's ability to categorise different venue types and generate tailored first-contact emails for each. It builds on the V4 email rules and the Master Drinks Guide to demonstrate that the system can adapt its tone, product focus, and CTA across all venue categories.

Date: 8 March 2026 Season: Spring (March). Menus changing. Spritzes, highballs, White Negronis, light serves. Rules: All V4 rules apply. See SDR_Prompt_Test_10_Sample_Emails_V4.md.

Category 1: Cocktail Bar

1A. Coupette, Bethnal Green

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Coupette | | Contact | Unknown (team-run, no single confirmed contact) | | Location | Bethnal Green, East London | | Type | Cocktail bar (French-leaning) | | Context | Ranked #23 in World's 50 Best Bars. French-influenced: Calvados, Champagne, vermouth. Apéritif Hour 4-7pm daily with Calvados Negroni on the menu. Uses Campari and sweet vermouth in their classic Negroni (£12). Award-winning, technically excellent. | | Season | Spring: Apéritif Hour, lighter serves | | Priority | A |

Generated email:

> Subject: A British Amaro for the Apéritif Hour?
> Hi team,
> Huge fan of what you're doing at Coupette. The Apéritif Hour is a brilliant idea and the Calvados Negroni sounds amazing.

Quick intro: I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth and Amaro based in SE London. Our DISPENSE Amaro has 24 botanicals and a Pinot Noir base. It sits somewhere between the Italian and French traditions, which I thought might be interesting given your approach. It makes a really distinctive Negroni and could be a fun addition to the Apéritif Hour lineup. Our SCHOFIELD'S English Dry also makes a banging White Negroni if you're looking at lighter Spring options.

I'd love to come in during Apéritif Hour, try the Calvados Negroni, and leave you with some bottles to play with.

When's a good time to catch the team?

Cheers,

Rob Asterley Bros asterleybros.com

1B. Satan's Whiskers, Bethnal Green

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Satan's Whiskers | | Contact | Unknown (team bar, no single confirmed public contact) | | Location | Bethnal Green, East London | | Type | Cocktail bar | | Context | Ranked #3 in UK Top 50 Cocktail Bars 2026, #21 in World's 50 Best Bars. "London's bartender's bar." Daily rotating menu from a catalogue of ~900 cocktails. Classics-focused. No gimmicks. Known for balance, restraint, and technique. Hip-hop soundtrack. | | Season | Spring: rotating menu always seasonal | | Priority | A |

Generated email:

Subject: English Vermouth and Amaro for the rotation

Hi team,

Been a fan of Satan's Whiskers for ages. The daily rotating menu is something else and the commitment to doing classics properly is exactly our kind of thing.

Quick intro: I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth and Amaro based in SE London. With 900 cocktails in the catalogue, I reckon our bottles could give you a few more! SCHOFIELD'S is an English Dry Vermouth (created with Joe and Daniel Schofield) that's designed for the ultimate Martini. And our DISPENSE Amaro is a Modern British Amaro with 24 botanicals that makes a brilliant Negroni. Both of them bring something quite different from the classic styles.

I'd love to come in one evening, have a drink, and leave a few bottles behind for the team to experiment with. That's all.

When's a good time?

Cheers,

Rob Asterley Bros asterleybros.com

1C. Burnt Faith Brandy House, Walthamstow

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Burnt Faith Brandy House | | Contact | Unknown (distillery/bar team) | | Location | Walthamstow, East London | | Type | Distillery bar / cocktail bar | | Context | UK's first dedicated brandy house. 5,500 sq metre distillery and exhibition space. Cocktail menu features an Aged Negroni (Burnt Faith Brandy, VRSD London Vermouth, Select Aperitivo, £8). Classic cocktail flight includes a "Burnt Negroni" (brandy replacing gin). Fellow London producer. | | Season | Spring: cocktail menu, lighter serves | | Priority | A |

Generated email:

Subject: London producer to London producer

Hi team,

Love what you've built at Burnt Faith. A London brandy house is such a brilliant concept, and the Burnt Negroni with brandy replacing gin is a great call.

Quick intro: I'm Rob from Asterley Bros. We make English Vermouth and Amaro just across town in SE26. We're big fans of what other London producers are doing, so thought I'd reach out.

I noticed your Aged Negroni uses Select Aperitivo and VRSD Vermouth. Our DISPENSE Amaro and ESTATE Sweet Vermouth could make an interesting all-British variant: London brandy, London Amaro, London Vermouth. That's a proper story for your customers. We also make an ASTERLEY ORIGINAL Aperitivo that works beautifully in a Spritz if you're thinking about lighter Spring serves.

Would love to pop in, see the distillery, and bring some bottles to try. Producer visit!

Cheers,

Category 2: Wine Bar

2A. Dynamic Vines, East Dulwich

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Dynamic Vines | | Contact | Frederic Grappe (Founder, confirmed via press interviews and website) | | Location | East Dulwich, South London | | Type | Wine bar / bottle shop | | Context | UK's leading importer of premium biodynamic and organic wines. Wine shop and bar at 149 Lordship Lane, SE22. Over 60 independent winemakers. No corkage on takeaway wines enjoyed in-bar. Charcuterie and cheese boards. Next to Mons Cheesemonger and Moxon's. Opened late 2024. | | Season | Spring: lighter wines and aperitivo opportunities | | Priority | A |

Generated email:

Subject: English Vermouth from your SE London neighbours

Hi Frederic,

Just discovered Dynamic Vines on Lordship Lane and the focus on biodynamic producers is really impressive. We're Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth, Amaro, and Aperitivo based in SE26, so practically neighbours.

I thought our bottles could sit nicely alongside your wine selection. Our Vermouths are made from British grapes and have a genuinely different character from the classic Italian and French styles. ESTATE, our English Sweet Vermouth, would be gorgeous with one of those cheese boards. And our ROSÉ Vermouth and ASTERLEY ORIGINAL Aperitivo make beautiful Spritzes for Spring.

We're small, independent, and local, which sounds like exactly the kind of producer you champion. Would love to drop some bottles in for you to taste.

Are you at the shop most days?

All the best,

2B. Half Cut Market, Kentish Town

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Half Cut Market | | Contact | Holly Willcocks (Co-owner/Sommelier, confirmed via multiple press features) | | Location | Kentish Town, North London | | Type | Wine bar / restaurant / bottle shop | | Context | Named one of 45 best wine bars in UK by The Times. ~80 natural wines curated by Holly. Chef Jack Newton runs the kitchen. Seasonal menu with regenerative sourcing (Ethical Butcher, Wildfarmed). Cool vibe: white tiles, pendant lights, fridge wall of natural wines. | | Season | Spring: seasonal menu change | | Priority | B |

Generated email:

Subject: British Vermouth for the wall

Hi Holly,

Came across Half Cut Market recently and love the combination of wine bar, restaurant, and bottle shop all in one spot. The regenerative sourcing approach is really great to see too.

Quick intro: I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth, Amaro, and Aperitivo based in SE London. Our Vermouths are made from British grapes and they'd make a really interesting addition to the fridge wall alongside the wines. They're also brilliant for aperitivo serves: ASTERLEY ORIGINAL makes a gorgeous Spritz and our ESTATE Sweet Vermouth works beautifully as a Vermouth and soda with an orange slice. Simple, low ABV, and perfect for Spring.

I'd love to come in for dinner and bring a few bottles along. Much better to taste them than read about them!

When's a good evening?

Cheers,

2C. Mele e Pere, Soho

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Mele e Pere | | Contact | Unknown (Tuscan ownership team, no single confirmed public contact) | | Location | Soho, Central London | | Type | Italian restaurant / vermouth bar | | Context | London's largest collection of vermouths. Makes their own house vermouth. Negroni and Martini specialists. "Apples and Pears" (Cockney rhyming slang). Happy hour: Sun-Fri 3-6pm, £7.50 spritzes, £5 vermouths. Homemade pasta, pizza. Since 2011. 46 Brewer Street. | | Season | Spring: Spritz and aperitivo focus | | Priority | A |

Generated email:

Subject: English Vermouth for London's Vermouth capital

Hi team,

Mele e Pere is genuinely one of my favourite spots in Soho. Making your own house vermouth and having London's biggest collection? That's the dream.

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros. We make English Vermouth, Amaro, and Aperitivo in SE London, so I thought we should probably know each other! Our range includes a Dry (SCHOFIELD'S), a Sweet (ESTATE), a Rosé, and a Red, all made from British grapes. They're quite different from the Italian and French classics in your collection, which is sort of the point.

Given how seriously you take Vermouth, I think you'd find them genuinely interesting. And our ASTERLEY ORIGINAL Aperitivo makes a brilliant Spritz for the happy hour too.

I'd love to pop in, have a Negroni, and leave you with the full range to try. Would be great to get your opinion.

When's good?

Category 3: Italian Restaurant / Aperitivo Bar

3A. Sorella, Clapham

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Sorella | | Contact | Unknown (Head Chef Ross Mangan confirmed, but he's kitchen-side; bar contact unconfirmed) | | Location | Clapham, South London | | Type | Italian restaurant | | Context | Michelin Bib Gourmand. From the team behind The Dairy and Counter Culture. Aperitivo tradition: seasonal Bellinis, Americanos, Vault Vermouth Negronis on tap. Cherry-smoked Negroni. Fresh pasta and focaccia daily. Clapham Manor Street. | | Season | Spring: aperitivo season, lighter serves | | Priority | A |

Generated email:

Subject: British Amaro for the Negroni tap?

Hi team,

Sorella is brilliant. The aperitivo focus, the Negronis on tap, the cherry-smoked Negroni. You've got the whole thing nailed.

Quick intro: I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth and Amaro based in SE London. I noticed you're using Vault Vermouth in the Negroni tap, so you're clearly open to interesting alternatives to the big Italian brands. Our DISPENSE Amaro could work alongside (or as a twist on) your tap Negroni: 24 botanicals, Pinot Noir base, London meets Sicily. And with Spring here, our ASTERLEY ORIGINAL Aperitivo makes a gorgeous Spritz for the aperitivo menu.

We also do 5L Bag in Box on our Vermouths and Aperitivo, which could work well for a tap setup and seriously helps with margins.

I'd love to come in for dinner and bring some bottles. When's a good time?

Cheers,

Rob Asterley Bros asterleybros.com

Word count: 145 Products: DISPENSE, ASTERLEY ORIGINAL (BiB mention for tap relevance) Seasonal hook: Spring aperitivo, Spritz Contact approach: "Hi team" (bar contact unconfirmed) Note: BiB mentioned here because Negroni on tap directly signals high volume. This is an exception to the "don't lead with BiB" rule, because the venue's own setup makes it directly relevant.

3B. Bar Termini, Soho

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Bar Termini | | Contact | Unknown (team bar) | | Location | Soho, Central London | | Type | Aperitivo bar / coffee bar | | Context | 1950s Italian railway station aesthetic. One of London's best Negronis. Coffee and aperitivo bar. Italian flair with exceptional technique. Small, intimate venue. Known for precise, elegant serves. | | Season | Spring: aperitivo season | | Priority | A |

Generated email:

Subject: English Amaro for an Italian classic

Hi team,

Bar Termini is one of those places that gets everything right. The whole 1950s Italian vibe, the precision, the Negroni. Proper aperitivo culture done brilliantly in London.

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros. We make English Vermouth and Amaro in SE London. My wife is Sicilian and I inherited a family Amaro recipe, which is basically how all of this started. Our DISPENSE Amaro has 24 botanicals and makes a Negroni that sits alongside the Italian classics but with a distinctly British twist. Our ASTERLEY ORIGINAL Aperitivo makes a beautiful Spritz too.

I'd never pretend to compete with the Italian tradition. But I think we complement it in a way you might find interesting.

I'd love to come in for a coffee and a Negroni, and leave a couple of bottles for you to try.

Cheers,

3C. Lina Stores, King's Cross

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Lina Stores | | Contact | Unknown (multi-site brand, no single confirmed bar contact) | | Location | King's Cross (also Soho, The City, Marylebone) | | Type | Italian deli / restaurant / aperitivi bar | | Context | Iconic Italian deli since 1944 (Soho). Now expanded to multiple London sites. Pasta, antipasti, and aperitivi bar. Distinctive green and white striped awning. Strong aperitivo programme across all locations. | | Season | Spring: aperitivo and lighter serves | | Priority | B |

Generated email:

Subject: English Aperitivo for the aperitivi bar

Hi team,

We've been fans of Lina Stores since forever. The aperitivi bar is a brilliant part of the experience, and it's great to see you bringing proper Italian aperitivo culture to multiple sites across London.

Quick intro: I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth, Amaro, and Aperitivo based in SE London. My wife is Sicilian and a family Amaro recipe is how the whole business started. We make a gorgeous British Aperitivo (ASTERLEY ORIGINAL) that works brilliantly in a Spritz, and an English Sweet Vermouth (ESTATE) that's lovely in an Americano or Negroni. They complement the Italian classics rather than trying to replace them.

I'd love to pop into the King's Cross spot, have some pasta, and leave a few bottles for the bar team to try.

When's a good time?

Category 4: Gastropub

4A. The Lamb, Holloway

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | The Lamb | | Contact | Unknown | | Location | Holloway, North London | | Type | Independent gastropub | | Context | Independent pub. Focuses on craft beers and independent spirits. Organic and biodynamic wine list. Creative cocktail selection. Local neighbourhood feel. | | Season | Spring: cocktail list refresh | | Priority | B |

Generated email:

Subject: Independent spirits from SE London

Hi team,

Had a look at what you're doing at The Lamb and really liked the focus on independent spirits and craft producers. That's exactly the kind of place we love working with.

Quick intro: I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth and Amaro based in SE26. Our DISPENSE Amaro makes a dead simple highball with ginger ale that's really sessionable and a bit different from anything else on the menu. Great for customers who want something interesting but not too complicated. We also make a gorgeous English Dry Vermouth called SCHOFIELD'S that's designed for the ultimate Martini.

I'd love to pop in for a pint and bring a few bottles along. Easy as that.

When's good?

Cheers,

Rob Asterley Bros asterleybros.com

Subject: Something different for the cocktail menu

Hi team,

Saw you've got a solid cocktail programme running alongside the food at The Goat In Boots. Great to see pubs investing in proper drinks!

Quick intro: I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth and Amaro based in SE London. Two really easy wins for your menu: our DISPENSE Amaro makes a brilliant Negroni (24 botanicals, Pinot Noir base, customers always ask about it) and our ASTERLEY ORIGINAL Aperitivo makes a gorgeous Spritz that's perfect for Spring. Both really simple to make and they give your team something to talk about.

I'd love to come in, grab some food, and leave you with a few bottles. No pitch, just a tasting.

Hi team,

We're Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth and Amaro based in SE26. We're big fans of MacFarlane's (the cheese selection is dangerous!) and thought our bottles might be a nice addition to the shelves.

Everything we make is from British grapes and botanicals, which fits well alongside the British cheeses. ESTATE, our English Sweet Vermouth, is gorgeous with a hard cheese board and makes a lovely gift. ASTERLEY ORIGINAL, our Aperitivo, is our most accessible bottle: bright, citrusy, makes a brilliant Spritz. Both look beautiful on a shelf and customers always want to know the story.

I can drop some bottles in for you to taste any time. We're practically neighbours!

Subject: British spirits for your venue bars

Hi team,

We're huge admirers of what Benugo does across some of London's most iconic venues. Running drinks programmes at the V&A, the Natural History Museum, and London Zoo is amazing, and the quality you bring to events is really impressive.

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros. We make English Vermouth, Amaro, and Aperitivo in SE London. I think our products could work brilliantly across your venue bars and events programme. ASTERLEY ORIGINAL makes a gorgeous Spritz that's quick to serve and always goes down well at events. Our DISPENSE Amaro makes an incredible Negroni. Both are easy serves for high-volume situations and they give your team a great story to tell: "made in London, British botanicals."

We also do 5L Bag in Box on our Vermouths and Aperitivo, which could help with margins and sustainability across multiple sites.

Would love to set up a tasting with your drinks buyer. When's a good time?

Hi team,

Restaurant Associates works with some incredible spaces and I imagine the drinks programme across those venues has to be equally impressive. We'd love to be part of it.

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth, Amaro, and Aperitivo in SE London. Our range covers everything from a Dry Vermouth (SCHOFIELD'S, for Martinis) to a British Aperitivo (ASTERLEY ORIGINAL, for Spritzes) to a Modern British Amaro (DISPENSE, for Negronis). All quick, elegant serves that work brilliantly for events. The "made in London" story is always a great talking point for guests too.

We supply in both 500ml bottles and 5L Bag in Box, so we can work with whatever format suits your venues best.

Hi Rob and Sam,

Really enjoying watching MOTH grow. Five million cans last year is incredible and the B-Corp is a brilliant move. We're proud to be part of the supply chain with the Sweet Vermouth.

I wanted to reach out about expanding what we do together. Beyond the ESTATE Sweet Vermouth you already use, we have the capability to develop completely bespoke formulations if you're ever looking at new flavour profiles. We can work to your exact specification: ABV, botanical profile, sweetness, colour. And with our existing production setup, scaling to IBC volumes is straightforward.

Our DISPENSE Amaro and ASTERLEY ORIGINAL Aperitivo could also be interesting for any new SKUs you're considering. A canned British Negroni or a canned Spritz with genuinely interesting base ingredients?

Would love to have a conversation about what's coming up for MOTH in the next year.

That's five categories from one British producer, which makes for a brilliant tasting and teaching session.

The story behind each product is worth sharing too: family Amaro recipes, collaborations with the Schofield brothers, British grapes and botanicals. Lots of material for a class.

Would love to come in and discuss a possible collaboration. When works?

Cheers,

Hi team,

Really love how AllBright's cocktail menu tells stories about pioneering women. The whole drinks programme has such a strong identity and it's brilliant to see.

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros. We make English Vermouth, Amaro, and Aperitivo in SE London. My wife is Sicilian and a family Amaro recipe she brought to the business is how the whole thing started. That story, and the fact that everything we make comes from British grapes and botanicals, might resonate with the way you curate your drinks.

SCHOFIELD'S English Dry makes a gorgeous Martini. ASTERLEY ORIGINAL makes a beautiful Spritz. And DISPENSE Amaro makes a Negroni with real character. All independently made, all with a story worth telling.

Dear team,

"British spirits for British Airways" seems like it should already be a thing, and we'd love to be part of making that happen.

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth, Amaro, and Aperitivo in SE London. Everything we make is from British grapes and botanicals, and our range covers the key cocktail categories your lounge bartenders work with: SCHOFIELD'S English Dry for Martinis, DISPENSE Modern British Amaro for Negronis, ASTERLEY ORIGINAL British Aperitivo for Spritzes.

For the Concorde Room especially, our products give the bar team a genuinely British story to share with passengers. And across the Galleries Lounges, our 5L Bag in Box format works well for volume consistency while keeping things sustainable.

We'd welcome the opportunity to arrange a tasting with your drinks procurement team. Please let me know the best way to set that up.

Hi team,

Craft Gin Club does a brilliant job of introducing subscribers to great spirits. I was wondering whether you've ever considered featuring Vermouth and Amaro alongside the usual gin and rum?

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros. We make English Vermouth, Amaro, Aperitivo, and Fernet in SE London. Our SCHOFIELD'S English Dry was created with bartenders Joe and Daniel Schofield to make the ultimate Martini, so it pairs perfectly with gin. Your subscribers could make a White Negroni, a Gin Martini, and a Negroni all from one box: gin from your featured producer, Vermouth and Amaro from us.

It's a different kind of month that could really excite your subscribers. We'd love to discuss how it could work.

Happy to send samples any time.

Subject: British Vermouth and Amaro for the Fifth Floor

Dear team,

The Fifth Floor at Harvey Nichols has always had an incredible eye for interesting spirits, and we'd love to be part of that selection.

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth, Amaro, Aperitivo, and Fernet in SE London. Seven products, all independently made from British grapes and botanicals. Our DISPENSE Modern British Amaro (24 botanicals, Pinot Noir base) and SCHOFIELD'S English Dry Vermouth (created with Joe and Daniel Schofield) are the standouts. Both are genuinely different from anything else in the Vermouth and Amaro category.

The bottles have strong shelf appeal and the British-made story resonates particularly well with a gifting audience.

We'd love to arrange a tasting with your wine and spirits buyer. What's the best way to make that happen?

Best regards,

Rob Asterley Bros asterleybros.com

Subject: London-made Vermouth and Amaro for the food hall

Dear team,

Selfridges has always been about discovery and innovation, and we think our range fits that perfectly.

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros. We make English Vermouth, Amaro, Aperitivo, and Fernet in SE London. Seven products, all from British grapes and botanicals. We're doing something genuinely new in categories that have traditionally been dominated by Italian and French producers.

DISPENSE Modern British Amaro (24 botanicals, Pinot Noir base, London meets Sicily) and BRITANNICA London Fernet (made with London Porter) are the most distinctive bottles in the range. But the full lineup covers Dry, Sweet, Rosé, Red Vermouth, Amaro, Aperitivo, and Fernet. That's a complete British collection for the spirits shelf.

We'd love to arrange a tasting with your spirits buyer. Please let me know the best way to set that up.

Best regards,

Rob Asterley Bros asterleybros.com

20A. Booths

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Booths | | Contact | Unknown (buying team) | | Location | Northern England (Lancashire, Yorkshire, Cumbria, Cheshire) | | Type | Premium supermarket | | Context | "The Waitrose of the North." Family-run since 1847. Strong focus on local and artisan producers. Curated spirits section. Known for championing British brands. ~28 stores. | | Season | Year-round (peak Christmas, gifting) | | Priority | A |

Generated email:

Subject: English Vermouth and Amaro for Booths

Dear team,

Booths has a brilliant reputation for championing quality British producers, and we'd love to be on your shelves.

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth, Amaro, and Aperitivo in SE London. Seven products, all made from British grapes and botanicals. They sit in the premium spirits section and they have a genuine story that your customers will enjoy: family Amaro recipe, collaboration with the Schofield bartending brothers, made in London.

ASTERLEY ORIGINAL (our British Aperitivo) is probably the strongest entry point for retail: it makes a gorgeous Spritz at home, the price point is accessible, and customers always come back for more. SCHOFIELD'S Dry and DISPENSE Amaro are our flagships for Martini and Negroni lovers.

We'd welcome the opportunity to present the range to your buying team. What's the best way to arrange that?

Best regards,

Rob Asterley Bros asterleybros.com

20B. Planet Organic

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Planet Organic | | Contact | Unknown (buying team) | | Location | London (multiple stores) | | Type | Organic / health food supermarket | | Context | UK's largest fully certified organic supermarket. Multiple London stores. Stocks natural wines, organic spirits. Sustainability-focused. Customers care about provenance and ingredients. | | Season | Year-round | | Priority | B |

Generated email:

Subject: Natural British Vermouth and Amaro

Hi team,

Planet Organic's commitment to quality ingredients and provenance is exactly how we think about what we make too.

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros. We make English Vermouth, Amaro, and Aperitivo in SE London. Everything is made from British grapes and botanicals, small batch, with full transparency on ingredients. Our ASTERLEY ORIGINAL Aperitivo is probably the best fit for your customers: it's a natural, British-made alternative to mainstream Aperitivos, makes a brilliant Spritz at home, and the ingredient story is genuinely interesting (bitter orange, rhubarb, rose, gentian, raspberry, lemon).

We also do 5L Bag in Box on several products, which dramatically reduces packaging waste. 90% less than bottles.

Would love to bring some bottles in for your buying team to taste. When's a good time?

Cheers,

Rob Asterley Bros asterleybros.com

20C. Tesco (Premium / Finest Range)

Prospect profile: | Field | Detail | |-------|--------| | Venue | Tesco | | Contact | Unknown (spirits category buyer) | | Location | UK-wide (3,400+ stores) | | Type | Major supermarket | | Context | UK's largest supermarket. Tesco Finest range for premium products. Large spirits section. Competitive but huge volume potential. Requires rate of sale data and promotional commitment. | | Season | Year-round (peak Christmas, Summer for Spritz) | | Priority | A (long-term, requires existing retail track record) |

Subject: British Aperitivo for the Spirits Aisle

Dear team,

The Aperitivo and Spritz category is growing rapidly and we believe there's room for a premium British player alongside the established Italian brands.

I'm Rob from Asterley Bros, makers of English Vermouth, Amaro, and Aperitivo in SE London. Our ASTERLEY ORIGINAL British Aperitivo is the lead product for grocery: it's a brilliant alternative to Aperol and Campari, it makes a gorgeous Spritz, and the "British-made" story gives customers a reason to pick it up. It's priced competitively in the premium tier.

We're already in several independent retailers and specialist shops, and we're looking to grow our grocery presence. We can support with promotional activity and we're set up for scale supply.

We'd welcome the opportunity to present to your spirits category buyer. What's the best way to arrange a meeting?

Best regards,

Rob Asterley Bros asterleybros.com

Product Distribution (All 60 Emails)

Product	Approximate Features	Strongest Categories
DISPENSE	40+	Universal: cocktail bars, Italian, groups, events, luxury retail
ASTERLEY ORIGINAL	35+	Spritz-led: festivals, events, grocery, wine bars, gifting
SCHOFIELD'S	25+	Martini-led: hotel bars, groups, airlines, luxury retail
ESTATE	15+	Sweet Vermouth: wine bars, Italian, RTD, delis

Product	Approximate Features	Strongest Categories
BRITANNICA	5+	Niche: specialist retail, discovery/subscription, luxury retail
ROSÉ	3+	Summer-specific: wine bars (underrepresented: expand in Summer campaigns)
RED	2+	Versatile but underrepresented: expand in follow-up sequences

Key Observations

1. ASTERLEY ORIGINAL is the gateway product across almost every category. It's accessible, makes a simple serve (Spritz), and has the broadest appeal. This should be the lead product for new category launches.

2. DISPENSE is the prestige product that works in serious cocktail contexts. It carries the most interesting story (24 botanicals, Pinot Noir base, London meets Sicily) and commands respect in professional bar settings.

3. SCHOFIELD'S opens doors in premium settings where Martini programmes matter: hotel bars, airline lounges, membership clubs. The Schofield brothers collaboration adds credibility.

4. BRITANNICA and ROSÉ are follow-up products, not first-email leads. They work best once a relationship is established or in very specific contexts (specialist retail, summer campaigns).

5. BiB (Bag in Box) becomes a selling point in categories 8-11 (events, groups, festivals) where volume, margin, and simplicity matter. It should be mentioned in first emails for these categories, unlike for single venues.

6. Tone scales with formality of the buyer. A bartender in Bethnal Green gets "Cheers, Rob." A spirits buyer at British Airways gets "Best regards, Rob." The AI SDR needs to detect this from the category and adjust automatically.

7. The "family Amaro recipe / Sicilian wife" story is a powerful differentiator for Italian-leaning venues and any context where the personal story matters (membership clubs, luxury retail, experiences).
